POLITICAL AND MISCELLANEOUS.

It is estimated that 250 wine and beer saloons have been closed and their proprietors gone out of business in St. Louis since July 1, under the high license law.

The troops have left Bay City and Saginaw, and the strikers are quiet, but few, if any, have gone to work. Nor is there much likelihood of their doing so, as long as the citizens of those places see fit to contribute to their support.

The Georgia house of representatives on last Saturday passed by a vote of 111 to 22 a general local option law for the counties in that state that have not already adopted prohibition. The bill now goes to the senate.

The family of Sirant are encouraged to believe that the General will live many months. If he lives many months, judging from the consequent failure of the prophecies of his doctors, he may live many years.—Graphic.

Fertilizers will give quicker results than manure, but the effects of manure are, as a rule, more lasting and durable. If lime is used with the manure the return will be given as quickly as from the artificial fertilizers, and in many cases lime and manure are the best dressing that can be used.—Stockman and Farmer.

An exchange says: "Last fall a man at Clyde, N. Y., had a number of stumps which he wished to remove. He bored holes in them, inserted salt-peter, filled up with water and then plugged the holes. About a month ago he took out the plugs, poured in kerosene oil and set on fire. The stumps have spouted away without blazing and now there is nothing left but ashes."

Government protection does not consist merely in the enforcement of laws against injury to person and to property. Its greatest object is to elevate and enoble the citizen. It would fail far short of its design if it did not disseminate intelligence and build up the moral energies of the people. It should afford moral as well as physical protection by educating the rising generation.—The Peoples Educator.

One of the best measures for the potato crop is a dressing of salt at the rate of one or two bushels per acre. Properly speaking, salt is not a manure, but it makes available the fertility lying dormant in the soil. Salt also assists in keeping the soil moist, and will not only increase the quantity, but improve the quality of the crop.—Exchange.

Clover is the most valuable plant for green manuring, and a crop of it is a valuable fertilizer even when used for pasture. The roots of clover are large and penetrate down into the subsoil and even the clay, and open them up to be made use of by vegetation. It is said that a crop of clover will put more vegetable matter, collected from sources where the common plants cannot penetrate, than any other plant, and even rivals the farmer with his manure wagon in full action.—Stockman and Farmer.

The Pennsylvania republican platform adopted at Harrisburg advocates the repeal of internal revenue taxes, except on liquors; revenue to be raised by an additional levy on imports; a civil service law which will not bind either the political thoughts or actions of American citizens; calls removals from office the unjust war upon offensive partisans; and refers to the administration's preference for the religious element of the democratic party at the south."

They believe in the old-fashioned Fourth of July in Bismarck, Dak. An orator of that town thus delivered himself on Independence day: "Ladies and gentlemen, while scanning the checkered past with eyes of patriotic fire, and looking through the veil which hangs like a drapery of eternity between the oblivion of ages and the bright prismatic splendor of a brilliant and transcendental present, we should not let slip from the pearly chamber of memory's shining temple, the grave and solemn truth that e-ter-n-a-liv-i-ja-n-e-e is the p-r-i-o-r of lib-e-ri-t-y!"—Exchange.

The republican conventions of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Virginia have spoken in their platform with no uncertain sound on the subject of tariff. They are for protection, and they have no doubt of it. However, one may differ from them on this subject, one cannot help but admire their candor. What are the democrats saying on this subject? Not much just at present, and no one can tell what they will say when they will be imperatively called upon to speak next winter in congress. They are all waiting upon the administration, and the administration has not said a word.—Det. News.

A young lover in Iowa paid forty dollars for a locomotive to run him thirty miles to see his girl, and when he got there the family bull-dog ran him two miles and didn't charge him a cent. Corporations have no souls.

German Democrats have asked the president to appoint a German to a clerkship on the White House staff to read German papers to the president and keep him informed of the opinions of German citizens. It has probably never occurred to the German Democrats that this government is run in the English language, and that it is their business to express their opinions in that language if they want the president to know what those opinions are.—Post.

Sporadic cases of cholera are appearing in different parts of the country. It should be borne in mind that temperance, cleanliness, exercise, nutritious food, an undisturbed mind are the best safeguards against cholera. If people would avoid liquor, unripe and decayed fruit and vegetables, ice-water and mental excitement they would stand a good chance of escaping the disease, even if it became epidemic.

The Post renewes its warning against ice-water and repeats its recommendation of a flannel band or apron over the abdomen next the skin, to be worn constantly.—Det. Post.

A whitewash that will not rub off is made by soaking one half bushel of lime with boiling water, keeping it covered during the process. Strain it, and add a peck of salt dissolved in warm water, three pounds of ground rice, pot in boiling water and boil to a thin paste; one-half pound powdered whiting, and a pound of clear glue dissolved in warm water. Mix these well together and let the mixture stand for several days. Keep the wash thus prepared in a kettle, and when used pour it on as hot as possible with painters' or whitewashers' brushes.

The government crop estimate for the month of June, which was eagerly looked for yesterday by the grain trade, is given to the public this morning. It shows but little change from last month's report of the condition of the winter crop, and that change is for the better. The general average of winter wheat is raised from 92 to 95, and the product of the whole country, including winter and spring wheat, is placed at 368,000,000 bushels. It is gratifying to know that of this amount our own state will furnish about 25,000,000 bushels, or nearly 7 per cent.

Post.

The new broom in the attorney general's office is a dressing of salt at the rate of one or two bushels per acre. Properly speaking, salt is not a manure, but it makes available the fertility lying dormant in the soil. Salt also assists in keeping the soil moist, and will not only increase the quantity, but improve the quality of the crop.

It is said that a crop of clover will put more vegetable matter, collected from sources where the common plants cannot penetrate, than any other plant, and even rivals the farmer with his manure wagon in full action.—Stockman and Farmer.

It is hard to keep the run of the pretty lying and persistent misrepresentations under which the present bob-tailed Bourbon administration tries to cover up many acts of double-dealing with the people. There is a continual effort to pose as a "reform" administration, and at the same time to help Democrats to office as fast as possible. The latest instance of this sort of duplicity was the trumpeting of the discharge of a number of employees of the department of Justice last week as a measure of economy and retrenchment, and asserting that they were not needed. On Wednesday of this week the Washington dispatches contained a list of Democratic appointments to fill those vacancies.—Blade.

General Grant's preface to his forthcoming book, has the tersa, clear ring of honesty and directness. General Grant has shown himself to be the most remarkable man living. As a true patriot he is above reproach; as a soldier, fearless; as a commander, uncinvited; as a presidential success; as an author, brilliant, and as a sufferer, incomplaining and enduring. His pen, even in his dying, is as powerful as his sword and has crowned him with a glorious victory as ever graced an author's brow. Bowd down by misfortune, tortured by disease, shadowed by death, General Grant has risen above them all, and has written in his full, round, glowing life, a never to be forgotten page in human history.—Det. Free Press.

Judge Thomas, Democratic member of the civil service commission, is out in Ohio telling people what a gloriously honest and successful institution that body is. Thomas himself being a Bourbon spokesman with an appetite of the first magnitude, his endorsement of civil service reform is about as valuable as that which the Kentucky woodsman gave to religion. "Yes, sir," said he, to the traveling reviser, "we all go in strong for the Bible; we beat all—on religion in these parts."—Philadelphia Press.

The mill owners in the Saginaw valley complain that they could get no local protection because the authorities and the citizens sympathized with the strikers and offered them aid. The community in which a difficulty of this kind occurs is quite likely to size up the right and wrong of matters correctly, and the fact of which the employers complain may be accepted by outsiders as a very emphatic pointer as to which party has the decided preponderance of right on its side.—Det. Journal.

He Thought Himself Hurt.

Gen. Hickenlooper tells a good one of Gen. Corse. It was at Atavona that a rifle ball took Corse alongside the head. Gen. Sherman received word from Gen. Corse that his ear and a portion of his cheekbone were gone, but he was still able to hold his position and fight on. As soon as possible Sherman got over to see him.

He is a scientist who spends most of his time in obscure speculations, although the neighbors say he is compelled to do most of the work about the house. This view of the case was recently strengthened by what a lady visitor saw. The wife of the scientist was at home and greeted the visitor cordially, who responded:

"How do you? I am glad to see you looking so well. And how is your husband?"

"He is quite well," replied the wife of the scientist. "He is in his studio engaged in solving some difficult mathematical problems."

Just at this moment the voice of the scientist was heard from the kitchen:

"I've got through grinding coffee. What shall I do next?"—Texas Spy.

A young man gazed at his mother's two trunks in the hall, and sadly remarked: "She has brought her clothes to a visit, would that she had brought her visit to a close."

Some one asks: "Is it dangerous to eat before going to sleep?" We think not. We have heard frequently of persons doing that. But if you are afraid to risk it perhaps you had better eat after you go to sleep.

"Well, you may come to work in the morning," said a white woman to a colored lady whom she had just employed.

"Yes, but, but, lady, dar am one point what we haint settled yet."

"What is that?"

"Why, lady, yer ain't give me no stifferkit o' character. I alius wants to know who I'se working fur. I got picked up de las' place I worked. I didn't ax for no character an' I hadn't been dur long 'till I learned dat de lady's husband wuz er Dinumerat. It's a baa-tar fix dese bings up at last, lady."—Arkansas Traveller.

Mrs. Blank is a rather young woman with a rather aged husband. He is a scientist who spends most of his time in obscure speculations, although the neighbors say he is compelled to do most of the work about the house. This view of the case was recently strengthened by what a lady visitor saw. The wife of the scientist was at home and greeted the visitor cordially, who responded:

For a first class Sewing Machine, almost any make, cheaper than ever, call at the AVALANCHE office.

Messrs. Hadley and Jones started on a fishing excursion last Tuesday. Wonder if J. M. profited by his experience with Engineer Pierce, to take along a change of line.

Bradstreet's journal says the customary dullness in trade at this season is observable and the plethora of money at the leading financial circles is as heavy as ever. Though the industrial condition is less satisfactory and strikes and suspensions have increased, a good full trade is confidently expected.

DIED.—On Monday, July 20th, Nettie, wife of Merlin Putnam, of Center Plain, aged 22 years.

Decended was the daughter of Rev. C. W. West, of Cheney, and sister of Mrs. A. H. Marsh, of this city.

The gentlemen who went to Sturgeon river on a fishing excursion, with Enginee Geo. Pierce, last week, won't give him away, but they would like to know what satisfaction he received from a portion of his wife's garments which he took along with him, or whether it assisted him in fishing?

"If any man is discontented with Michigan, let him compare her crop prospects with those of other states, and be happy. A trip through central and southern Michigan will convince the most fastidious that there is no more productive state in the Union." Grand Rapids Democrat.

Messrs. Salling, Hanson & Co have removed the stumps from the stream above their dam, and are putting in a new dam which improves the appearance of things in that locality.

Mr. Thor Woodfield, leaves this week for Manistee, where he intends to engage in the General Grocery business. The removal of Mr. W. and family will be a loss to this community, as they are well and favorably known.

Our loss will be Manistee's gain, but there are others here we could have spared with greater equanimity. They carry with them the good wishes of all in this community.

A health journal says: "An attack of hiccough may be stopped by holding the head under water. We should think about two hours would be plenty long enough to stop the worse case of hiccoughs ever invented."

EASTERN.

John Ross, who was being held at Erie, Pa., for return to a Reform School, Thursday improved a hole from a molding, reached out and secured the keys of police headquarters, and liberated himself and two burghers. He then robbed the treasury of the money and weapons which it contained. Upon reaching the outskirts of the city, Ross telephoned the Chief of Police where his keys could be found.

Joseph Taylor was hanged at Philadelphia for the murder of Michael F. Moran, keeper of the Reutter's, May 27, 1884. Taylor began his career of crime when 16 years of age by stabbing a companion. Since that time he stabbed and shot upward of forty persons.

The residence of Josiah M. Evans, in Clearfield County, Pa., was destroyed by fire, and six of his children, ranging in age from 1 to 15 years, were cremated. Evans was awakened by strange noise, and, under the impression that burglars were about, took his gun and went outside to investigate. To his horror he discovered his humble dwelling in flames. He quickly gave the alarm; but before he could reach his six children who were sleeping on the second floor the roof fell in, and in a few minutes the building was all ashes. His wife and three younger children, who were sleeping on the lower floor, were taken out safely, but the parents were forced to see their other children perish in the flames.

Joseph F. Cottington, ex-Secretary and Treasurer of the Central Transportation Company of Pennsylvania, charged with the embezzlement of $147,500 and forging certificates of the company, has been sentenced at Philadelphia to imprisonment for four years in solitary confinement.

WESTERN.

At Springfield, Ill., Judge Treat, of the United States Court, sentenced six of the locked-out Wabash employees to imprisonment in the county jail—four for thirty days each and two for ten days each—for contempt of court in interfering with nonunion men when at work.

A tornado wreaked fifteen houses at Higdon, Ill., and completely destroyed the town of Holobled. Property in the district suffered severely, and two or three persons were killed. A storm of rain, hail, and lightning visited Winona, Wis., leveling trees and fences and inflicting considerable injury upon growing crops. Much damage was done to rotted-up signs and along the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

The victims of the yachting disaster at Lake Minnetonka were buried at Minneapolis. Bustups of all kinds were entirely suspended, and flags were flying at half-mast. The funeral procession was the largest ever seen in that city, being a mile and a half long. The streets along the route were lined with people, and fully 6,000 were at the cemetery. The bodies of ex-Mayor Rend, his wife, daughter, son and nephew were buried in one grave, all those of Mr. Cokendoll, his wife, and daughter in another.

George Johnson, a farmer living near Elkhorn, Iowa, murdered his sister-in-law, Grace Land, with a razor. Johnson and his wife had had a quarrel, and it is supposed that in the dark he mistook the unfortunate lady for his wife.

Cleveland dispatches state that the iron miners in that city, who have been definitely at war with the steel miners, are reported as still showing signs of an intention to make trouble. There are factions among the strikers, however, and some of them are in favor of returning to work at once, while others are determined to stand down for the year if the labor troubles there continue. One or two proprietors have already taken the course indicated. At day's close there has been party skirmishing.

Since July 1, when a high license law took effect, 250 wine and beer saloons in St. Louis have been closed.

Gen. Howard, commander of the Department of the Platte, has been ordered by the President to make all possible preparations for any emergency that may arise in the near future in Utah.

The State census of Nebraska, just completed, shows the State to have a population of about 700,000. In 1880 it was 422,000. In the same period the city of Omaha has increased in population from 30,500 to 61,331.

Advices from Fort Buford, in the extreme northwestern corner of Dakota, are to the effect that the grasshoppers had made their appearance in that vicinity, and were devastating the growing crops. A dispatch says the grasshoppers had begun work on wheat fields of one hundred acres, and had devoured the grain for a distance of ten feet eastward around the field.

SOUTHERN.

The World's Exposition plant, comprising buildings and machinery, was sold at New Orleans for $150,000, the successful bidder being supposed to represent the new Exposition Company.

James Pryor was killed by Joseph Holt in a duel in Kaufman County, Texas, growing out of a business disagreement.

James G. Wintersmith, Doorkeeper of the National House of Representatives, died at Louisville, Ky., aged 31 years.

Five hundred men in the jail at Asheville, North Carolina, overpowered the turnkey and locked him in a cell, making their escape to the mountains.

Promaster Groser, of the Richmond and Danville Rail, went to bed in his car at Atlanta, Ga., and when he woke up, early the following morning, was being whirled over the line at the rate of forty miles an hour. He went to the platform, set the brakeman, and demanded of the men on the locomotive where they were taking him. They punctuated their reply with bullets, and Mr. Groser leaped from the car. When he returned with half a dozen men, the turnkey fled, leaving the safe, which contained $30,000, and stashed. There has been one arrest in suspicion.

The wolf-worm is ravaging many cattle-fields in Texas.

The National Cotton Convention, in session at White Sulphur Springs, created T. Avery, of New Orleans, President. A report was adopted asking Congress to pass a law making cotton curators responsible for the care of their agents.

David Ackles, colored, was hanged at Helena, Ark., for the murder of Frank Burnell and Polkia Flanagan. At Halifax, N. C., Easton Mills, a notorious colored desperado, was hanged in the presence of thousands of people.

Thomas J. Boho, an aid on the Governor's staff, was shot at New Orleans by Miss Mary C. Kahn, aged eighteen, who claimed that he had deceived her by means of a forged marriage certificate.

WASHINGTON.

A decision by Land Commissioner Spratt affords the right of entry of lands heretofore withdrawn by the voluntary action of the General Land Office, for railroad indemnity purposes where the law did not require such withdrawal. If this decision is sustained, it will restore to many millions of acres of public lands heretofore kept out of market because claimed by railroad corporations.

The deficit of the Postoffice Department for the quarter ended March 31 last was $1,055,533. It is estimated that the deficit for the present fiscal year will reach $6,000,000.

The total value of exports of live-stocks for the six months ended June 30 was $50,165,000, as compared with $7,403,000 for the corresponding period of 1881.

A decision by Second Comptroller Maynard is to the effect that the money appropriated to Georgia by the act of March 1882, to reimburse the State for expenses incurred in the revolutionary war, must be turned into the Treasury and credited to the amount due from Georgia under the direct tax of 1881, levied upon all the States to defray the expenses of suppressing the rebellion.
